God is Love and Nothing Else.

PRaise THE LORD.

[Conclusion of letter from Sanibel Island, Fla.]

What are these droves of dwellers on the beach that first attract the eye, if the weather be pleasant? "Fiddlers," they are called; a species of dwarf crab, that burrow in the sand, in incredible numbers, and move in serried ranks like swarms of ants, as they go down to the water's margin to feed. As you approach they flee apace, the patriarchs of the host lifting their one claw in a sort of gallant but feeble menace; yet still fleeing, as they threaten, just like the rest. Lively little beggars they are. I like them much. They are untiring scavengers; make the best of bait in catching sheephead, or striped bass, that comes on our table daily. Funny fellows, going sideways even, and rattling a staccato movement with their little claws over the beach sand, and making a mighty rustling in the dry grass, as they climb to further safe retreats, in their timid flight. They are always in a state of retreat. Indeed the poor little things are preyed upon by many devouring monsters, especially the coons, who dig them up and spare not. Ducks gobble them; sea birds feed on them; and fishermen draw on them for landy and excellent bait. They live the life of hunted crabs, by day and night. Amazing numbers of our old friend, the raccoon, haunt these mangrove-covered shores. They are expert fishers; can open an oyster or mussel shell; take fiddlers for dessert; and watch the turtles with marauding intent as they deposit their eggs on the sand. I have been told they will even sit upon a turtle's back while the creature is laying a nest full of eggs; but I think this "sharp practice" is exceptional, if it be true at all; the robbers, generally waiting, in small squads, and marking their prey from a cautious distance. One can get a pop at them with a gun any night, when the moon is shining. They patrol the beach in full force, picking up everything eatable, whether thrown up by the waves or left by careless housekeepers. While we cooked on shore, near the Tea Tepui, for the first few days of arrival they visited our kitchen nightly, and took what they liked.

But we are wandering from the beach. Let us return.

The shells would be considered rare and plentiful and beautiful, on the San Carlos side, but that we have been on there are; and how exquisite is the scattered wealth of "that beautiful shore." But in these inner nooks, where the position of the sharply-curved points is favorable, there are piled up banks of shells 3 or 4 feet deep, of nearly uniform size, generally an inch in diameter, pure white and of such delicate pattern that it seems a sin to crush over them with one's boot-heels. From these banks we get the material for strewing our church floor and making the daintiest garden walks imaginable. The most striking feature of the Punta Gorda Grand Hotel—$4 a day—is the breadth of these exquisite shell walks that radiate from the wide verandahs.

Wonderful, too, are the mangrove roots stilted up the stocks and foliage so that one can walk through a labyrinth of these banyan-like supports, with impenetrable shade overhead and the bodies of the trees lying in semi-horizontal and fantastic writhings far above the wash of the salt tide. The roots take hold of bare sand. What nourishment they find is surely "after their kind." No other tree but the mangrove can thrive and grow with nothing to eat but sand; nothing to drink but brine. Some of these superb growths, as one threads the gnarled and knotted tangle, give the impression of the pillared grandeur of a cathedral; one the wildest luxuriance of nature; the other the staid perfection of art; as unlike as possible; yet both striking the same chord in our aesthetic nature.

Behind these mangrove jungles run narrow and shallow streams here and there, where the cranes and curlews, bitterns and cormorants delight to gather for the night. These "rookeries" are noisy enough in the early morning; and when a human foot invades the solitude the whirring of wings and discordant cries of the disturbed birds, fill the welkin with a chaos of strange sounds.

The plumage of the white crane vies with that of the ostrich in grace and beauty. They are found by the thousands in these mangrove swamps.

But who can give, even a half idea of the unaccustomed sights and sounds of this tropical latitude? Everything is strange; and the endless varieties of fauna and flora baffle the brain and pent to describe them. I despair of conveying to my readers what will and I see every morning as we trudge to the homestead. It is already growing familiar to us, and we stamp upon the shelly glories of the beach, without taking time to admire and wonder at anything, unless it be something so singular and before unseen that it halts us for an inquiring moment of inspection.

I finish this hurriedly on the 21st. The storm is over. Bay tranquil and serene; sun bright; air balmy. We are preparing to run up to Fort Myers in the Alice Howard, that passes St. James at noon. F. M. is our county town, where we put in our afterlives of homestead entries. "Captain Sam"—the hardy boatman of San Carlos—is waiting to transport our luggage to the lumber landing, to be forwarded by our trusty "Buck and Bally" in the wagon to the new premises. Part of the Troupe remain to superintend removal. Part go to F. M. on the needed legal business. We expect to return tomorrow, D. V.

So all is present hurry and bustle and I yield to the rush of circumstances and close in haste. All well.

Ever in Jesus, GEO. O. BARNES.

Trustees, patrons and friends, we entreat you to encourage us by your presence!

PROF. W. F. NILES, Com.

MISS ALICE STUART, Secy.

MRS. J. F. GOVER.

HIGHLAND.—Mrs. L. I. Faulkner is visiting friends and relatives at Harboursville, Woodbine and Jellico. We hope to see her return soon. We understand that two of our prominent men are contending for the P. O. at this place, but we cannot see their object as there is neither high honor or large pay in it, but a drowning man will catch at a straw.

John Bugh has just returned from the mountains where he has been on a prospecting tour and appears to be in high spirits about the lumber business in that section. Cash & Faulkner are doing a good business at their saw mill. Whooping cough is raging in this and the Kingsville neighborhoods. Wm. Routin has bought the property known as the Hortontown property, where he has opened a first-class stock of general merchandise. J. H. Batt is salesman.

Zachariah Padgett was taken to jail yesterday by Constable Gibson to pay a fine of $10 and the costs for committing a breach of the peace at Hortontown not long since. He attacked Arch Huston with a pistol with the intent of doing him bodily harm.

In 1796 Thomas Jefferson was defeated for President of the United States, but four years later he was triumphantly elected; in 1824 Gen. Jackson was defeated for President though he had a plurality of the popular vote, but in 1828 Gen. Jackson was chosen president by an immense majority; in 1836 William Henry Harrison was defeated for President, but at the next election he swept the country. There is nothing in the above narrative out of our political history to discourage Grover Cleveland; besides the election of Ben Harrison was bought for him in open market, and if the next administration is disastrous in the sense of a financial crisis, no power on earth can prevent the nomination and election of Mr. Cleveland in 1892.

Bobby (proud of his progress in Latin) —"Pop, what's the Latin for people?" Father—"I don't know." Bobby (loudly)—"Populi." Father (fiercely)—"What do you mean, you young scamp? Lie down!" and he proceeded to paddle him where it did the most good.

Appealing to Diana, the Goddess of the Ephesians, for help, is as useless as trying to cure cholera without Genter's magic chicken cholera cure. "No cure no pay." Sold by McRoberts & Stage, 2t

Persons wishing to improve their memories or strengthen their power of attention should send for Prof. Loissette, 237 Fifth Ave., N. Y., for his prospectus post free, as advertised in another column.

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—The Cara Pryor Company played to a small house here Friday night.

—Only a few went from this place to the inauguration, A. E. Gibbons and E. B. Thiele being among the number.

—W. H. Dunn and Thomas Emery have formed a partnership in the livery business and will run the Carsner stables.

—The great number of petitions passing around for signatures would lead one to believe some body wants to be postmaster.

—Mr. Claude May and Miss Mary E. Clarkson were married last Wednesday at the residence of the bride's parents, in this county, Rev. R. H. Caldwell officiating.

—The negro, George Dunn; for robbing Wm. Banford's hen roost was sentenced to the penitentiary for 1 year. Guess the chickens are glad and will not roost so high now.

—The town was crowded Sunday with the colored population. The colored members of the O. F. M. paraded the streets and afterwards assembled at one of their churches to hear a sermon by one of their "big guns."

—A little excitement was created on the streets Saturday evening by a fight between a negro man and his wife. She was the aggressor and no doubt needed "currying down" as some told him if he would whip her they would pay his fine.

—Some months ago Mr. W. L. Reed bought of Mr. Carsner the livery stable and grounds on the corner of 4th and Main for $7,500. The trade has been cancelled because in a previous sale to Dr. Saxe of an adjoining house he had sold half the wall, while Reed's deed called for all of the wall.

—The Commercial Club of Danville will hold its first monthly meeting next Tuesday night. Much business will be attended to and a discussion of the new railroad will be had during the evening. The first meeting should be largely attended as these are the meetings that we should be most concerned in so as to make a good beginning.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—The Methodist meeting at Mt. Carmel, Fleming County, resulted in over 60 additions.

—Miss Frances Willard announces April 28th as the World's Day of Prayer for the temperance cause.

—Communion services will be held at the Presbyterian church next Sunday, with the usual preparatory meetings, beginning Friday night.

—Rev. Ben Helm prayed for the incoming administration Sunday. The prayers of the righteous availeth much, but we fear it will take a long pull, a strong pull and a pull together to help Harrison through.

—The Methodist prayer meeting on Thursday nights is one of the best attended and most interesting in town. Nearly all the members take part and at the last meeting the music was particularly good. Mrs. Porter Staggs sang the solo, "Sweet Galilee," with marked sweetness and effect.

—The meeting at the First Baptist church here closed last night at the end of its 4th week, and Mr. Hale returns to Louisville this morning. Eighteen more were added to the church yesterday, making a total of 110 since the meeting began. The membership now is 734.—Owensboro Messenger.

We are not in the habit of reproducing the good things said about us by our partial brethren of the quill, but as this compliments one who fully deserves it, we take pleasure in copying it. It is from the Pineville Messenger:

We are gratified to learn that our dearly beloved but unfortunate Bro. Walton, of the Stanford Interior Journal, has so far recovered from the injuries received on an icy sidewalk as to take his place at the journalistic helm. Bro. Walton was supremely lucky to have such an able assistant as E. C. Walton to take charge of his paper during his disability, and we are glad to know that while Bro. Walton suffered the Interior Journal lost none of its prestige.

DANVILLE.—Mr. J. Boyle Read was struck on the head by a falling rail and seriously hurt. Judge N. Sandifer called Judge T. Z. Morrow in open court in Danville last week. It was made out of mountain laurel and most artistically carved. Mr. J. R. Marrs will not go into the newspaper business at Mt. Sterling at the end of his official term, as reported. The Advocate safe has been systematically robbed for sometime by a white boy, whose name is suppressed at the request of his father, who is an honest, hard-working man. Reuben Gentry purchased of Hon. Wm. Berkeley a pair of 104 hand mules that weigh 2,850 pounds, for $425.—Advocate.

—A recent sale of real estate in Chicago reached $7,500 per foot.

—Hervey A. Gould, a Boston rubber dealer, has failed for a million.

—Pearl Cheneault, a negro girl, was convicted at Louisville Saturday of robbing the Richmond postoffice.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Mr. Zach Shackelford, an old citizen of the county, died at Milledgeville on Saturday. He was buried at our cemetery on Sunday. Funeral services at the Christian church by Elder J. Q. Montgomery.

—In his last issue the editor recalls the fact that he has for 14 years presided over the interests of the Interior Journal. He may well contemplate with honest pride the result of his labors. Jacob of old won undying fame by his perseverance in laboring 14 years to secure a wife; but Walton has beaten Jacob's time to death. I well remember when I first saw him, young, handsome, hopeful, ensconced in a dark and dingy little office, surrounded by a chaos of grimy hand-presses, wrinkled rollers and tottering cases, in a strange community, haunted by the ghosts of hectomiles of county papers that had died in unhonored infancy; but exhibiting that peculiar flash of the eye and alertness of movement that bespoke a determination to do or die. His progress, in spite of many obstacles encountered bravely and scattered by his unflagging energy, has been continually onward, upward and triumphant. First he won a better wife than both of Jacob's put together. He infused his own spirit into his paper, increased its size, beautified its aspect and made it one of the staunchest (and at the same time most dignified) sheets in the commonwealth. The "pent up Ulica" of the original office was too contracted for his aspirations and therefore he procured a spacious and pleasant building, discarded his old cumbersome and unsightly machinery, adopted every reliable improvement, converted the paper into a semi-weekly, employed a steam engine to generate his power and settled the problem of the age by showing that a country paper can not only live, but prosper. And permit me to put in the humble boast that the present contributor has in a feeble, obscure and unpretending way been with the paper even longer than the present editor. He loves the old, familiar sheet—the editor—his kindly staff—even confesses to a growing admiration for the colored diabolus—and while sharing none of the glory, rejoices in the success of the I. J.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—William M. Kidd and Miss Victoria Bastin, a sweet sixteen, were married at Mr. W. M. Wood's, near Highland, yesterday. Kidd was in town for his license before sunrise yesterday morning.

—The Pope was 79 Friday.

—The House very properly declined to vote a year's salary to the widow of the late Chief Justice Waite.

—Paducah voted by 900 majority Saturday $100,000 to the Paducah and Tennessee and $60,000 to the Paducah, Hickman and Southern railroads.

—"Jim," a young Seminole Indian brave, became crazy and started on the warpath in the Florida Everglades. With a Winchester rifle he slew seven Indians before he was himself killed.

—A claim agent at Washington has sued W. E. Vilas and P. M. General Dickinson for $100,000 damages because they notified postmasters that his services were not necessary in the adjustment of their claims.

—Near Springfield Robert Mullen shot and fatally wounded Robert Moore, his brother-in-law. Mullen's wife had left him and gone to her brother's home, the latter being shot while defending his sister from her husband.

—W. P. Harvey, son of the editor of the Western Recorder, shot himself while under the influence of liquor, but the ball struck a rib and glanced instead of reaching the heart. It is said that his dissipation was caused by despondency over the death of his grandmother.

—Gov. Wilson, of West Virginia, issued certificates to democrats in the 3d and 4th districts, but the republican candidates will contest for the seats before Congress and finally get them, as the republican rule will be to seat republican contestants simply because they are republicans.

—In the trial of Thomas R. Vines, the clerk who had himself shipped in a trunk to St. Louis, with $4,062 stolen from his employers, the jury found a verdict of guilty, but also found that he was insane at the time. The tortures that he underwent during the trip ought to have atoned for the offense anyway.

—Richard Piggott, the Parnell letter forger, was located at a Madrid hotel and an officer proceeded to his room and placed him under arrest. Piggott asked to be allowed to step to one side of the apartment for a necessary purpose, which was granted, whereupon he did so, and immediately placing a revolver at his mouth fired, killing himself.

William Henry Harrison used 8,578 words and 48 I's in his inaugural address. John Tyler 3,643 and 15 I's. Polk 4,904 and 18 I's. Buchanan 2,772 and 13 I's. Lincoln 3,388 and 43 I's. Grant 1,139 and 39 I's. Hayes 2,472 and 16 I's. Garfield 2,649 and 10 I's. Arthur 431 and one I. Cleveland 1,688 words and 5 I's.

BALED HAY, STRAW, &C.

The Favorite

Medicine for Throat and Lung Difficulties has long been, and still is, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It cures Croup, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, and Asthma; soothes irritation of the Throat and Lungs; strengthens the Vocal Organs; always soothes the Lungs; prevents Consumption, and, even in advanced stages of that disease, relieves Coughing and induces Sleep. There is no other preparation for diseases of the throat and lungs to be compared with this remedy.

"My wife had a distressing cough, with pains in the side and breast. We tried various medicines, but none did her any good until I got a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, which has cured her. A neighbor, Mrs. Glenn, had the measles, and the cough was relieved by the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have no hesitation in recommending this to every one afflicted."—Robert Horton, Foreman Headlight, Morrilton, Ark.

Cough Medicine

"I have been afflicted with asthma for forty years. Last spring I was taken with a violent cough, which threatened to terminate my days. Every one pronounced me in consumption. I determined to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Its effects were magical. I was immediately relieved and continued to improve until I was completely recovered."—Joel Bullard, Grover, Conn.

"Six months ago I had a severe hemorrhage of the lungs, brought on by an incessant cough which deprived me of sleep and rest. I tried various remedies, but obtained no relief until I began to take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A few bottles of this medicine cured me."—Mrs. E. Coburn, 19 Second St., Lowell, Mass.

"For children afflicted with colds, croup, sore throat, or croup, I do not know of any remedy which will give more speedy relief than Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I have found it, also, invaluable in cases of Whooping Cough."—Ben. Loring, 1257 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

E. O. McCORMICK, General Passenger Agent, Chicago.

W. P. WALTON.

Those who claimed that Grover Cleveland would dodge the issue by letting the Direct Tax bill die on his hands, were mistaken in the man. There is no quality so foreign to his nature as cowardice and when he is sure he's right he never fails to obey Davy Crockett's injunction, to go ahead. Saturday he returned the bill to Congress without his approval, accompanying it with the following vigorous opinion: "A sheer, bold gratuity, bestowed either upon States or individuals, based upon no better reason than supports the gift proposed in this bill, has never been claimed to be a provision for the general welfare. The beneficial effect of a surplus in the treasury of the general government is daily seen and felt. I do not think, however, that this surplus should be reduced, or its contagion spread throughout the States, by methods such as are provided in the bill." The Senate passed the bill over the President's veto, but the measure died in the House.

Last week the dailies were full of sensational matter regarding the separation of Louis James and Marie Wainright, on account of the alleged infidelity to the marriage vows of the latter. Now we are regaled with news of the proceedings for divorce entered by Maggie Mitchell against her husband, Henry Paddock, the rich New York broker, to whom she has been married long enough to have a girl 19 and a boy 17 years of age. She charges that the old man has been wandering off after other and younger goddesses, which she could never forgive, although she is now old and wrinkled herself. Marriage with the average theatrical man or woman is usually a matter of convenience or passing fancy and in most cases proves a very decided failure.

TAULBEE, whose term of office expired at noon yesterday, will not be missed by the democrats. His course in Congress has not been in keeping with that of the party he claims to belong to, and he has twice voted with the republicans to pass bills over the President's vetoes, the pauper pension steal and the Des Moines land grant. A straight-out republican is better than a milk-and-oiler democrat, and the 10th Congressional district will lose nothing by swapping the loud-voiced Taulbee for Wilson.

The Covington Commonwealth is making it hot for what it terms the Frankforter generally and Auditor Hewitt in particular, who it claims have the State by the throat and it is either death to them or Kentucky. It blames the auditor for the Tate defalcation and prints his testimony in bold caps to convict him of gross negligence. We have not the slightest idea that Gen. Hewitt ever meant to do wrong, but his confidence in Tate amounted almost to infatuation.

COL. SEARS, who has spent his miserable life abusing his betters, is now in his glory as Washington correspondent of the Louisville Commercial. This is the way he barked at Cleveland a day or two before his retirement: "Cleveland seems to have fewer friends than any retiring President in the history of the country, except Hayes. His followers desert him as he deserted Munroe and Randall and every other friend who ever rendered him any service."

At last accounts Editor Cravens, of the Barbourville News, was hesitating at the forks of the roads which lead, the one by "the hot dry route of typhoid and the other through the low grounds of the chill and fever settlement." We hope he took a dose of Crab Orchard salts in preference to either of them and is now in proper condition to express his opinion of his friend, Denham of the Jellico News.

We have received a copy of a 24-page pamphlet issued by Ayres & Givens, attorneys at Louisville, setting forth the advantages and resources of Eastern Kentucky and giving information of a most valuable character to those who want to make investments. If you are interested in the matter send to James G. Givens, 327 5th street, for a copy and for any other information on the subject in question.

Recognizing the necessity of a Simon-pure democratic paper in that county, Messrs. Sam M. Boone and C. E. Colyer have commenced the publication of the Pulaski Enterprise at Somerset, and promise a rigid adherence to Jeffersonian and Jacksonian principles. We wish them good luck and hope that they will be able to pull the county out of republican ruts.

This story is sent out from Harrodsburg that the skeleton of John Simpson, who has been missing since 1873, was found in a hollow tree near the Washington county line. It was identified by his watch, which the charming liar should have added was still running.

The type and presses used by Editor Rucker, at Somerset, were sold from under him, but that did not shut out the life of the Reporter. He hustled at once to Cincinnati, got a new plant and his paper was out as usual last Thursday.

HERE'S YER PRESIDENT.

Harrison Inducted Into Office Yesterday with Great Pomp and Ceremony.

The Cabinet Semi-Officially Announced.

BAD MUSIC FOR THE HUNGRY HORDE.

(Special Dispatch to the Interior Journal.)
WASHINGTON, March 4, 3 P. M.—The House of Representatives adjourned at noon, the Senate at 12:25, the clock having been set back. The new Senate then convened. Vice-President Morton took the oath of office and the Senators were sworn in.

At 12:45 President Harrison mounted the platform and read his address. It is a very conservative paper, emphasizing civil service reform, protection and the enforcement of election laws. Recommends a conservative treatment of the differences with foreign powers; advises office seekers not to be importunate, as every application will be thoroughly weighed; cautions people who sign recommendations to be careful and conscientious and says no party changes will be made. No sectional issue is mentioned, nor is the bloody shirt once flaunted.

The official announcement of the cabinet will not be made till to-morrow but semi-officially it is:

Secretary of State—Blaine, of Maine.
Secretary of the Treasury—Windom, of Minnesota.

Secretary of War—Proctor, of Vermont.

Secretary of the Navy—Tracey, of New York.

Secretary of the Interior—Noble, of Missouri.

Postmaster General—Wanamaker, of Pennsylvania.

Attorney General—W. H. H. Miller, of Indiana.

Secretary of Agriculture—Jeremiah Rusk, of Wisconsin.

Two years ago prohibition was carried in Christian county by a good majority. The question was voted on again Saturday when the former verdict of the ballots was reversed by more than 750. Hopkinsville went 640 against and there were considerable anti-prohibition gains in the county precincts. The prohibitionists attribute their heavy defeat to disgust over the inefficient enforcement of the law, which enabled blind tigers and other devices to do a lucrative business, while the city was deprived of the revenue.

Judge Barr ordered Deputy Marshal Rogers to be dismissed from the service on the affidavit of John D. White, who swore he had endeavored to influence a case against his client. The real reason of White's action was that Rogers wanted to climb his spine. Rogers says that "White is a dirty coward and had to take the case into court for protection. I will make him meet me on equal grounds or publish him as a coward in every newspaper in the State of Kentucky."

A dispatch from Washington says fully 10,000 tickets at $5 had been sold to the Inaugural ball last night. Negroes have been liberal purchasers and this is giving the elect much concern. But the negro is as good as a majority of the whites that were there and we hope they were out in sufficient numbers to crowd their white brethren and sisters to the wall.

Both Houses of Congress were in session Sunday. The deficiency and sundry civil bills were passed, after much wrangling, and at 2:20 yesterday morning the House adjourned until 9. The Senate was still in session. Both bodies died at noon yesterday, going on record as having had the longest sessions ever held by Congress.

LEXINGTON seems determined to hog all the persimmons next time, though only four candidates for State offices are out spoken of as yet. The lay out now is M. C. Alford, Lieutenant-Governor; Col. John O. Hodges, Superintendent of Public Instruction; Charles J. Branton, Attorney General, and Capt. S. G. Sharp, Treasurer.

"I am a democrat with all that the word implies. I am, moreover, an intense democrat, in that I believe the true principles of the democratic party are essential to the well being of this country."—Ex-President Grover Cleveland, who will be President Cleveland again four years hence unless all present signs go for naught.

No opportunity to abuse and vilify the President has ever been lost by the Commercial-Gazette, whose rantings have made it ridiculous in the eyes of all honest men. The first kind word it has ever given utterance to appeared Saturday and is as follows: "President Cleveland and his estimable wife have acted admirably in their treatment of President-elect Harrison. However we may differ in politics, that is no reason why we should not all be gentlemen and ladies." There is a reason for Halstead not being a gentleman, however. He is not built that way.

But for State rights, which the republicans have denied when it suited them to do so, Harrison would not now be President of these United States. The last election showed the republicans to be 500,000 votes in the minority and compared with the democrats 100,000 behind. Had popular majorities instead of electoral votes prevailed the hungry horde would again be in the soup instead of the swim.

The first Blackburn ever known to resign an office is young Jim Blackburn, who has given up the position of Chief of the railway adjustment division of the postoffice department. He simply made a virtue of a necessity though, as he would have had to walk the plank in a few days.

Judge R. J. BRECKINRIDGE announced himself for the Senate in an appropriate speech here yesterday. Boyle is entitled to the honor this time and it is very gratifying to know that she has presented such excellent timber.

CLEVELAND will be known in history as "Old Veto." During his term as President he vetoed 278 bills—157 more than were vetoed by all his predecessors combined from Washington down.

NEWS CONDENSED.

—The negro exodus from North and South Carolina to the West is said to be 1,000 a week.

—Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, the only living Vice President, was a visitor on the floor of the Senate last week.

—Queen Victoria let her crown fall from her head the other day, but failed to break it. It is regarded as a bad omen though.

—High-necked dresses, high bustles and a high tariff are the distinguishing marks of the incoming administration.—Elton News.

—The train bearing Harrison's old regiment suffered a collision on the way to Washington, but none of the veterans were hurt.

—Warren county by a majority of 1,000 declared in favor of the tax for the Henderson State Lumber railroad. Great excitement prevailed.

—Arie B. Cleveland, the head of a big New York seed company, is gone, and so is the firm's money to the amount of $150,000. No kin to Grover.

—Riddleberger was drunk as usual in the Senate Sunday and was ingloriously fired by Senator Ingalls, who recognized him as a dead cock in the pit.

—The public debt has increased $7,000,000 since February 1. This is due to the unusually heavy disbursements during the month for pensions, etc.

—The Clayton murder in Arkansas is as much of a mystery as ever. Robert Watkins, the only man arrested for complicity in the crime, has been discharged.

—The Bank of England is said to be the most extensive banking institution in the world. It employs over 1,000 clerks and its buildings cover more than 8 acres.

—Representative J. W. Linck, of the Indiana legislature has been suspended for the rest of the session and fined $150 for striking Representative Willard in the face.

—Mrs. Harrison is said to have said: "Mrs. Cleveland is positively the loveliest creature I ever saw. I almost feel guilty in depriving her of a position that she deserves so well."

—The Senate confirmed 23 of President Cleveland's recent nominations for postmasters, in the list being Horace Castleman, at Flemingsburg. None of importance were confirmed.

—Of the 325 members of the next House 164 are republicans and 161 democrats, republican majority 3. There are 20 contests, but they cannot be considered till after the organization.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—To-morrow a special term of Circuit Court will convene.

—Capt. W. J. Kinnaird will muster in a new company being the same Company (Co. G.) and belonging to the same regiment.

—The house recently occupied by Geo. D. Burdett and family was sold last Monday for only $1,200. The building cost as much as $2,000 and is owned by the Building and Loan Association.

—Madam Rumor tells us—but she don't always know everything, though she thinks she is so wise, that we are soon to have two weddings in the lower part of the county. We won't tell you who it is, because we don't know.

—It is undecided yet who is to be the next representative from old Garrard. The two contestants at present are Wm. Berkele and R. H. Tomlinson, both gentlemen well known throughout the county. We know of which will be the winner in the race.

—The Building and Loan Association has recently bought of T. Stevens his store-room and they think of tearing it down and on the same spot placing the engine-house which now adorns our square. We certainly think it would be a good move, and we have never heard any one state that as the engine-house now stands it improves the looks of our city.

—On Wednesday afternoon of last week there was a Literary Circle organized at Garrard College by the young ladies and young men of that institution. For this step we must compliment the young people for nothing will advance their intellectual growth as rapidly as a thorough research after first-class literature. We wish for them advancement in their new endeavor.

—Speed Marsee, a citizen of Bell county, has recently purchased of Thos. Stone his farm near Camp Robinson of 202 acres for $10,000. Thos. Turner, another Bell county man, has bought James Hill's farm, also near Camp Robinson, of 115 acres, for $5,462.50. We welcome the Bell county men into our community. It is of recent date that a party of Garrard county men bought $11,000 worth of property at Middleboro. The following men are the ones that invested: W. R. Robinson, Thos. Stone, E. W. Lillard, R. Kinnaird and Joe Weisiger. Altogether this makes as much as $30,000 that our citizens have invested in real estate in Bell county.

—Mr. Wade Bush left last week for Louisville. Mrs. D. M. Anderson is in Lincoln county at the bedside of Mrs. John Anderson, who has been ill for sometime. As usual Mrs. A. is proving herself an angel of mercy. Miss Jennie Lacey has returned from a pleasant visit to Richmond. Mrs. Margaret Dunn left last week to visit her sister, Mrs. Tom Richards, of your city. Misses Fox and Miss Laird, of Eaton, Ohio, are the guests of Mrs. Joseph C. W. Sweeney in New York after his spring goods. H. M. Grant is at home from New York City, where he has been attending medical lectures. Mrs. Dr. Jennings Price has returned from a most pleasant visit to her son in Danville. John P. Sandifer went to Cynthiana last week on business. We are glad to report Mr. John Gill's condition much improved.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—T. J. Hansell was married to Miss Mary Vanderpole Friday last.

—L. T. Houk sold a 150 acre farm six miles north of town to Capt. Evans for $2,800.

—Cash Hiatt had his hand badly ground on a sandpaper machine in the furniture factory.

—Fallingfoot set fire to J. M. Miller's residence Friday night. The bucket brigade responded quickly and subdued the flames.

—F. L. Clifford, agent at Livingston, has been transferred to a similar position at Williamsburg. H. B. Lays goes from Williamsburg to Bessemer, Ala.; J. B. Eberline, of Hazel Patch, takes Livingston.

—The jail birds had a well laid plan to make their escape Friday night by knocking the jailer on the head and making a rush for liberty, but their scheme was given away by a woman and their plans frustrated.

—Judge Colyer and J. J. McCall have moved to the Evans farm. Josh Boring has moved to the Gresham property. Peter Bark has moved to East Bernstadt. Billy Gresham has concluded to remain in Rockcastle and not go to Texas.

—Os. Wolf and Wiley Coffey had a difficulty over a settlement. Wolf knocked Coffey in the head with a rock inflicting a serious wound from which Coffey will likely lose an eye. If the people will resume the habit of using stones instead of pistols better times may be looked for.

—Conductor Wm. Isaacs was fatally injured while coupling cars near Somerset.

—Goff and Senator Carr were both sworn in as governors of West Virginia yesterday and the courts are to decide which is entitled to the office.

—Mrs. Mollie Robinson, a sister of R. H. Tomlinson, Esq., of Lancaster, died at Buena Vista, Thursday of neuralgia of the stomach, aged 44.—Lancaster News.

—The Somerset Reporter publishes this, which we hope is untrue: H. Burman Price, of Lancaster, late of Helenwood Call, etc., is being advertised by the Chattanooga papers as a dead-beat and forger.
